

MOBILIZED A LARGE FORCE

Russia Will Have a Half Million New Troops in the Field by Autumn.

MILITARY PLANS ARE NOW SECRET

Mikado's Army Is Steadily Pushing the Czar's Forces Further Back Towards the North--Japanese Are Active at the Mouth of the Yalu.

[Special by Scripps-Melroe.] London, April 9.—The King-Yow correspondent of the Central News wires that a Chinese report has reached there to the effect that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu into Manchuria and that a skirmish with the Russians occurred at Tatung-hau.

Rumor of Defeat Denied

St. Petersburg, April 8.—An authoritative denial is given of the rumor of a Russian reverse on the Yalu, which was circulated in Paris yesterday. No official telegrams were received from the front yesterday. The mobilization of the Black sea reserves is necessitated in order to fill gaps caused by drafting sailors to the far east. It is expected that a similar mobilization will come into effect in the Baltic provinces within a month.

Russo-American Relations

The Novoe Vremya yesterday printed prominently an article from an American newspaper describing an interview between Emperor Alexander II. and Wharton Barker of Philadelphia on the occasion of the review of the Russian fleet at Cronstadt in 1879, during which the emperor told Mr. Barker of his determination during the American civil war to consider Great Britain's recognition of the confederacy as a casus belli and for that reason sent the Russian fleet to New York and San Francisco. The Novoe Vremya remarks:

"Russia has not forgotten how to honor the flag raised in 1863 by Russian squadrons at New York and San Francisco. The Americans who were at Cronstadt that day know how to appreciate the Russians' friendship for America during the civil war."

The Novostl approves of the government's policy, but foresees that more important measures are necessary to provide for the war expenditure.

Impressive Easter Ceremonies

A hundred million of the emperor's subjects yesterday reviled the tragedy of Golgotha. The Russian capital seemed plunged in grief. All night and morning the church bells tolled mournfully, reminding the faithful of the betrayal of Gethsemane. Peter's denial, the trial before Pilate, the burden of the cross, and, finally, the crucifixion. The scourging and mocking of the Savior were impressively reenacted at the Alexander Nevsky cathedral, Antonius, the metropolitan of St. Petersburg, officiating.

Climax of Solemnity

Yesterday afternoon at St. Isaac's cathedral was held the solemn ceremony of commemorating the three hours' agony. The interior of the great cathedral presented a wonderful scene when at last a silver cross on which was painted a picture of Christ crucified was borne out through the inner golden gates on the shoulders of the black garbed clergy to a magnificent sarcophagus erected in the center of the church. The vast congregation consisting of over 10,000 persons, was on its knees, each person holding a lighted candle. Thrice the officiating bishops and deacons circled the bier and then all the lights were extinguished, and for hours throngs of people passed before the catafalque, most of them sobbing and weeping.

May Land More Troops

Wei-Hai-Wei, April 9.—The result of a week's cruising leads me to believe the Japanese fleet is engaged in covering arrangements for a new landing of troops recently mobilized. A close blockade of Port Arthur has not been maintained, presumably because of information of the state of the channel. Moreover, the sudden fogs which are apt to occur at this time of the year might give the Russian torpedo craft, which still have free egress, certain advantages. It is certain that on the present time no Japanese transports have entered the Gulf of Pochili, though one must allow that the persistent effort to go close to Port Arthur suggests that a fleet is required for operations at a greater distance from the present fleet, the base of which, of course, is within easy striking distance of all points in the present theatre of war except Vladivostok.

Japanese in Disguise

Peking, April 9.—Since March 15 at least nine Japanese officials, dressed as Chinese, with a full staff of Chinese servants, passed north through Kupelko, Je-Lo and Ping-Tuan toward Chao-Yang, General Ma's headquarters. About 25,000 foreign drilled troops are at Chao-Yang. Russia protested to the Wal-Wu-Pu. The Chinese government is engaging additional Japanese military instructors for the troops of north China.

POLICE RECOVER MOST OF BOOTY

Get Back Ten Thousand Dollars Stolen From a Miser by Youthful Robbers.

[Special by Scripps-Melroe.] New Milford, Conn., April 9.—By the capture and confession of Andrew Turner, aged seventeen, of Lanesville, the police this morning were enabled to capture a gang of youth who robbed Henry Davis, a miser, of $12,000 at Turner's home in Lanesville last Thursday. Turner saw Davis counting the money and planned the robbery. Four companions were arrested at Waterbury this morning and $10,000 recovered.

May Wait Russian Attack.

A dispatch from Paris from St. Petersburg says people there are beginning to consider the possibility of the Japanese fortifying themselves in Corea to await the Russian attack. Everything in reference to military operations, however, seems to be conjectural. The report that Gen. Kuro-patkin's first line of defense is in a strong position near Fenzwang-cheng does not seem any more worthy of credence than any other of the rumors printed.

There is no reliable news of the fleet. A St. Petersburg correspondent locates six Japanese ships at Wei-hai-wei and says the remainder are at Sasebo. This is not confirmed. Even less trustworthy is a rumor from Rome that the Russian Vladivostok squadron has been seriously damaged in storm.

Japs Active on the Yalu.

A dispatch from Newchwang says reports continue to arrive there of incessant Japanese activity at the mouth of the Yalu. Light draft transports are reaching Yungampo, where the disembarkation of troops and stores is progressing constantly.

Surprise is expressed that nothing is done to harass the landing of the Japanese on the southern bank of the river being within range of Russian artillery fire from Antung.

Japanese Strategy.

Doubt increases that the Japanese intend to advance from the Yalu, their movements there being regarded as a subterfuge to distract attention from more important movements elsewhere. It still is strongly believed that the chief attack will be in the neighborhood of Port Arthur.

A Tokio correspondent says the Russians have dug a moat four miles long north of Port Arthur, containing buried wire entanglements concealed in the mud.

Goes to Meet Enemy.

Paris, April 9.—A St. Petersburg correspondent says that Admiral Makarov went out from Port Arthur Friday morning, a Japanese squadron having been signaled as in the offing. It is rumored that a sea fight took place, but nothing concerning it is officially known.

Alice Suzanne Williams, daughter of the late Dr. Williams of Ohio, made a successful debut at the municipal theatre in Nice, France, as Marguerite in "Faust." The American colony was strongly represented in the audience. Miss Williams studied under Massenet and Salleha, the latter playing Faust.

IS AFTER THE LEGISLATURE NOW

Governor Will Spare No Means to Gain Control of the Legis. lative Body.

[Special by Scripps-Melroe.] Madison, Wis., April 9.—Encouraged by the probable election of his favorite, Judge James C. Kerwin, to the supreme bench, Governor La Follette has determined to wage a fight for the control of the next legislature and secure the passage of the "reform" measures he has been advocating for the past four years. The latest announcement is that Executive Clerk, H. A. Huber, of Stoughton will be a candidate for the assembly from the eastern district of Dane county, a stalwart district, now represented by Torger G. Thompson. The entrance of the executive into this district is considered an act of political nerve, as the chances for Mr. Huber's success are slight. It appears that the defeat of the attack of the governor on Congressman Babcock in the third district has not greatly stunned him, for political conferences are held daily in the executive chamber of the unified capitol and the fight is known to be planned throughout the state to secure control of the legislature is such a secure extent as to preclude the possibility of failure, as in the last two sessions. These plans are predicated on the success of the third term campaign.

MINERS RETURN TO TELLURIDE

Are Then Driven Out Again and Forced to Take Long Walk.

[Special by Scripps-Melroe.]

Denver, Colo., April 9.—Sixty-six deported unionists from Telluride, who returned to that place last evening, were immediately arrested by the militia and two hours later were placed in a special train and hauled to Dallas Creek, mountain water tank station on the county line, and dumped. The exiles were forced to walk twelve miles through the snow and bitter cold to Ridgeway where they were given shelter and food. The men will return to Curay where they will be kept at the expense of the union. It is said the men were deported by order of Governor Pen-hollow.

CHINESE MAY COME IN SOON

Congress Must Stop the Proposed Invasion of This Country After December 7.

OLD TREATY WILL THEN EXPIRE

China Has Denounced the Former Pact, and Refuses to Renew It; This Leaves an Open Door for the Yellow Peril.

[Special by Scripps-Melroe.]

President Roosevelt recognizes the extreme peril to himself in the situation disclosed by Senator Patterson and partly admitted by his cabinet advisors, and is insistent that something be done to avert it. He has commanded Secretary Hay to open negotiations with China for an extension of the existing treaty, and failing in that for a new treaty. Secretary Hay is willing enough to begin the negotiations, but he has little hope that he will be successful.

The cabinet discussed the probability of the government enforcing the drastic provisions of the Geary exclusion law, and it was given out at the White House tentatively that this might be done. The lawyers of congress who are familiar with the subject, however, do not believe the law can be resurrected, and that the only way exclusion can be provided for is by the enactment of a new statute.

[May Call Special Session.]

President Roosevelt's concern may lead him to send a special message to congress on the subject for the purpose of prolonging the session so that a Chinese exclusion law may be passed. It is also intimated that he may permit congress to adjourn and then call a special session during the summer to deal with the subject. The president is convinced that he would be justified in following either course because he appreciates that if the consequences predicted by Senator Patterson become apparent to the people the effect on his own vote next November will be disastrous.

The representation of the several cities, towns, villages and wards in said convention shall be as follows:

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out
With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Cause of Many

Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure, or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickly by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous article in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SEASONABLE WEATHER HELPS

Good Buying of Spring Apparel and Footwear With Country Merchants Less Conservative in Their Selections Than Earlier in the Season.

Chicago, April 9.—Duru's Review of Chicago Trade says:

"While mercantile defaults were more numerous, these had no especial significance. More favorable indications appeared in the growing ease and use of money, as reflected by cheaper borrowing rates and heavier exchanges.

"Trade conditions have exhibited steadiness and some extension of activity induced by the opportunity presented to advance outdoor work. Prices of leading manufactured products remained firm, but values of farm products declined on ample supplies and improved agricultural prospects. Deliveries throughout the West were made promptly, showing a cessation of railroad congestion, but there was a lessened marketing of crops due to the bad state of country roads.

Work on the Farms.

"Advices were favorable as to the progress of farm work and growth of winter wheat, and, while the movement of staple merchandise was smaller than early last month, the aggregate volume of freight traffic is again almost normal. Mail order houses received a wider demand from many outside points, and retail dealing made a satisfactory advance.

"The more seasonable weather encouraged good buying of spring apparel, jobbing houses found outside merchants less conservative in their selections than a short time ago, and the current dealing in goods, clothing, millinery and necessities for prompt shipping, show that many needs had been well longer than usual.

"Other branches of distribution, such as shoes, hats, woolens and groceries, report transactions reaching a fair average."

Iron and Steel.

"Business in iron and steel and factory productions has been strengthened by enlarged demand and former values. The placing of orders for rails improved, and there was steady absorption of pig iron, bars and all forms for structural requirements. Commitments for cars and motive power were an encouraging symptom. There has been no diminution of activity in wire and naila. Hardware distribution was increased for the interior, and also in the building lines.

"Receipts of lumber were 8 per cent over those a year ago, and shortage is apparent in yard stocks, hard woods being scarce and dear.

"Receipts of hides were 2,120,070 pounds, against 3,500,722 pounds the previous week, and 1,022,300 pounds a year ago. Sales reached a satisfactory volume, without change in quotations. Dealings in leather were easy. Leather workers claim a fair share of supplementary orders and considerable output of shoes, harness and trunks.

General Provisions.

"Grain shipments, 2,297,052 bushels, are slightly over one-half under those of a year ago. The demand for breadstuffs ruled very light, and the closing prices of the previous week were not sustained. Corn fell 23 cents a bushel, oats 21 cents and wheat five-eighths cent. Provisions were also weak, pork declining 35 cents a barrel, lard 22½ cents and 20 cents. Receipts of hog stock were 320,300 head, compared with 205,600 head a year ago. Heavy sheep gained 25 cent a hundredweight and reached the highest price this year. Heavy hogs fell 10 cents, and choice cattle declined 5 cents.

"Failures in the Chicago district number thirty-two, against twenty-two the previous week and twenty-two a year ago."

Real Self-Dental.

SETTLES ODD CLAIM.

Account Is Reopened for Relatives of Soldier Who Died in Captivity.

Washington, April 9.—Congress has just settled a curious claim for the benefit of the heirs of John A. Dolan, late corporal of company C, Thirty-seventh United States Volunteer Infantry. Dolan was a Chicago boy. With his company he was ordered to the Philippines and was captured by Filipinos on Jan. 29, 1900. It was supposed that he had been killed on that day and the father of Dolan was paid the amount due at that time. Subsequently it developed that Dolan was held in captivity until his death, which occurred on Oct. 20, 1900. His family made a claim for pay and allowances from Jan. 29 to Oct. 20, but this claim was disallowed, because the controller of the treasury had closed the account up to Jan. 29 and refused to reopen the case. Representative Bonelli introduced a bill for the relief of the heirs. It provides for the payment of $200. This measure passed the house recently and was adopted by the senate. The action of the controller of the treasury in declining to reopen the case after he officially had held that Dolan died on Jan. 29, whereas he did not die until several months later, is the cause of some unfavorable criticism.

DISCUSSES NEGRO.

Southerner in Congress Replies to Criticism by Mr. Gillett.

Washington, April 9.—That the negro is better protected by the state authorities in Mississippi than in Massachusetts, and that his opportunities are far greater in the South than in the North was the reply of Representative Bowers of Mississippi in the house to the recent criticisms of Mr. Gillett of Massachusetts.

The only state in which lynching had been prevented by the swift and timely interposition of the law was Mississippi, and this, Mr. Bowers said, was due to the personal action of the governor.

Mr. Bowers made a comparison of the criminal statistics of Massachusetts and Mississippi, and said those showed that the negro was not fit for self-government, and he was greeted with Democratic applause when he said the negro, within constitutional limits, should be eliminated as a political factor, and insisted that the courts were not guilty of discrimination.

Use of the Mayflower.

Washington, April 9.—President Roosevelt has spent a total of forty hours aboard the naval steam yacht Mayflower since she was commissioned June 28, 1902, and has traveled in her ninety-four miles. He has spent one night aboard the ship, being detained by bad weather. Of these forty hours, all, except on one occasion, were in the performance of official duties. This is Secretary Moody's reply to the criticisms filed by Representative Williams in the Congressional Record concerning the president's use of the ship. The communication was filed in the Record by Representative Foss. In addition Secretary Moody says that the total time spent on board the Mayflower by members of the president's family has been one week.

Roosevelt's New Carriage.

Washington, April 9.—President Roosevelt has a new carriage and it is about the most democratic looking vehicle ever housed in the White House stables. It is of the old-fashioned "Rockaway" type, where the driver and passengers all sit on a level. It has a broad seat inside for two passengers and a seat beside the driver for another. It is well made, painted a dark green color and upholstered in yellow leather in the most substantial manner.

Philippine Shipping Bill.

Washington, April 9.—With only one amendment the Philippine shipping bill was passed by the house. That amendment extends until July 1, 1906, the time when the law shall become operative. The bill provides that no merchandise or passengers, except supplies for the army or navy, shall be transported by sea under penalty of forfeiture, between the United States and the Philippines except in vessels of the United States.

"Receipts of lumber were 8 per cent over those a year ago, and shortage is apparent in yard stocks, hard woods being scarce and dear.

"Receipts of hides were 2,120,070 pounds, against 3,500,722 pounds the previous week, and 1,022,300 pounds a year ago. Sales reached a satisfactory volume, without change in quotations. Dealings in leather were easy. Leather workers claim a fair share of supplementary orders and considerable output of shoes, harness and trunks.

MARRIES SLAYER OF HUSBAND

Iowa Woman in Jail for Complicity in Revolting Crime.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rocker of Boone, Iowa, are in jail under an indictment for murder and Mrs. Rocker has confessed to Attorney C. A. Irwin of this city that her present husband murdered her former husband, August Schroeder, June 30, 1900. She says that Rocker, who was at the time Schroeder's hired man, went to town with Schroeder, got him drunk and chloroformed him on the way home. She says that Schroeder was nearly dead when they reached home and that she helped Rocker hang Schroeder in the barn to indicate suicide. After collecting the insurance on Schroeder's life, she says, she gave it to Rocker, who went to South Dakota, and that she then married him.

New York Has $100,000 Fire.

New York, April 9.—After a hard fight the firemen put out a fire in the six-story from building at West Broadway and Franklin streets, occupied by James Barron & Co., wholesale dealers in pants. Twice there were terrific explosions. The damage is estimated at from $80,000 to $100,000.

man with a little capital of, say, a few hundred dollars, to establish an independent business. The creation of great corporations, which we call "trusts," the transaction of commerce on a broader scale requiring immense capital, and "regulation of competition" have made it more and more difficult for the small business man to maintain himself in independence. R. G. Dun & Co.'s statistics show that the total number of business firms in this country in 1882 was 322,256; in 1892, 1,172,705; and in 1902, 1,253,172. The increase from 1882 to 1892 was 350,449, or 42 per cent; and from 1892 to 1902, only $0,167, or less than 7 per cent. In some lines of manufacture it is known that there has been an actual decrease in number of separate establishments, notwithstanding the increase in population. It cannot be denied that the process of the concentration of the control of wealth and the various devices invented to secure its perpetuation in a few hands, serves to contract the horizon of high ambition.

But this is only one side of the picture. There is much on the other side. There is an immense field for talent and industry in the service of the corporations. They offer great rewards for expert skill. This is true as is evidenced by the fact that men of ability are entering into their service in large numbers in preference even to the attractions held out by public life. Into the employment of these corporations are going thousands of young men who would otherwise have become the clerks of small merchants. Many of them eventually become officers of the corporations who in other days would have set up in business of their own. The success of these as servants of corporations may be equal in every respect to the success that they would have attained under the old order of things. In fact, while they may lose somewhat in independence, they gain on the whole in power and financial rewards. A new profession has been opened up to the ambition of young men the profession of corporation management.

Then there is a great demand for young men, educated for the work of experts in civil, electrical and mechanical engineering. Heads of schools of technology say that there is always a demand for young men who have the knack of being able to do things.

We are undoubtedly in a period of readjustment in the industrial and financial world, and the result is not unlike that which a new invention produces in some time-honored trade. It throws thousands of workers temporarily out of employment, because the invention introduces a more economical method of production, whereby one machine may do the work formerly accomplished by a hundred hands. But this new invention of itself creates new wants, establishes new industries, and in the end provides new openings for employment. This has been in a measure the effect of the great consolidations of capital in the past few years. They have thrown many out of employment, but in the end there will be a complete readjustment of the new conditions, so that all who really desire to work will have an opportunity to do so.

It is certain that our young men are not going to be cheated of their chance for success. If the new economic conditions stand like a rock in their path, obstructing their progress, they will either go around the rock, or, if that is impossible, they will put their shoulders against it and push it out of their way."

FOR THE ASSEMBLY.

The name of Captain Henry Norcross seems to meet with hearty approval by republicans. It is due to Captain Norcross to say that the proposed honor is not of his seeking and when his name was suggested he was as much surprised as any man present.

It is generally understood that the manufacturers of the state are a unit opposing the governor's pet measure for a railroad rate commission. They argue that the industries of the state have developed, and are now in prosperous conditions, because the manufacturers have been granted commodity rates, and that with a rate commission conditions would be changed and the long distance tariff proposed would play havoc in Wisconsin as it has in Iowa.

With a view to concerted action the manufacturers throughout the state held meetings in their respective cities in February. When the Janesville men were called together they realized among other things that the attitude of the next legislature was of vital importance, and they agreed by unanimous vote to ask Senator Whitehead to represent them in the Senate, and Captain Norcross in the Assembly.

A few days later this action was ratified at an adjourned meeting, where 75 representative manufacturers and business men were present. There has never been any question concerning Senator Whitehead's successor, and this will explain why Captain Norcross is in the field. That he is well endorsed no one will question, and that he will be nominated and elected, is not a matter of doubt.

No word of commendation is necessary from the Gazette. Captain Norcross is known to everybody. He enjoys the confidence of the people and possesses all the qualifications of a good representative. If every Assembly district in the state is as well represented, there will be no freak legislation, and the industries of the state will be protected. The Gazette is supporting him in advance.

Now then take another step in advance. There can be no doubt that the young of the convention, because no other candidate has been announced and the caucuses are only a few days ahead.

NOT OUT OF THE WOODS.

The La Follette men are having some fun at the expense of the Gazette, because the paper commented on the election of Judge Luse, when the scattering votes since received declare the election of Judge Kerwin.

The paper has no apologies to offer, and can see no reason for any great amount of rejoicing on the part of the Gazette, because the paper commented on the election of Judge Luse, when the scattering votes since received declare the election of Judge Kerwin.

The paper has no apologies to offer, and can see no reason for any great amount of rejoicing on the part of the Gazette, because the paper commented on the election of Judge Luse, when the scattering votes since received declare the election of Judge Kerwin.

It will be noticed by the caucuses and convention calls that the entire campaign so far as nominations are concerned, is to be crowded into the next thirty days. The governor has set the pace, and the people are expected to fall in line.

The Kerwin victory represents the final strength of La Follette and fair minded democracy, much of the latter will be missing when the third term contest is tested. Conservative republicanism has no occasion to be discouraged.

INTERESTING MAN TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Rev. W. N. Chambers is to Deliver an Address at the Congregational Church in the Evening.

Sunday evening W. N. Chambers, who has spent most of his life in Asiatic Turkey, will deliver an address at the Congregational church. Rev. Chambers has long been prominent in the educational, diplomatic and missionary affairs of this interesting part of the world and his address promises to be full of interest, particularly at this time when so much is being said about the Turkish cruelty and war is imminent between that country and Bulgaria. Rev. Chambers was in Asiatic Turkey when the daring bicyclist, Lenz, was murdered by the savage Kurds. Mr. Chambers was one of the few to accompany the American agent and a Turkish imperial commissioner in their search of some traces of the crime, going into the country of the savage Kurds under an armed escort. He was also present during the Armenian massacre which stirred the Christian world against Turkey and is thoroughly informed on all matters connected with Turkish life, customs and government.

JAMES CROFT IS DEAD AT BELOIT

Grand Army Veteran and Past Commander and Agent of St. Paul Road, Receives Last Summons.

James Croft, for many years agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in Beloit, was taken ill Thursday evening while on his way home from his office and died shortly after reaching his home. The news of his death has been a terrible shock to family and friends. He left the office about six o'clock in company with Matthew Mosher. When near the city park he was seized with a fainting spell and Charles Smith, a liveryman who was hitching his horse near by took Mr. Croft into his carriage. On the way to the residence the latter informed Mr. Smith that he had had such attacks before but seldom as serious. As the vehicle neared his home the sufferer grew worse and was taken unconscious and dying from his carriage upon his arrival there. Dr. Buckridge was summoned but found his patient dead upon his arrival at the home.

James Croft was born in Janesville, Wisconsin, in 1845, his parents having moved to this state from York, England, the preceding year. When the opening of the civil war fired the youth of the country with patriotic ardor, young Croft, though a lad of but seventeen years of age, enlisted and served loyally for three and one-half years, taking part in the campaigns of the west, sharing in the siege and capture of Vicksburg, in camp and in battle the same steadfast and faithful patriot who has known him since in years of peace.

At the close of the war Mr. Croft entered at once the service of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, in which he has remained continuously until the hour of his death. As agent of the company he was employed upon its new lines in Iowa and Dakota, opening every office from McGregor to Mason City, and serving successfully as agent in them all. For thirteen years he was agent at Berlin, Wisconsin; thence he was transferred to Beloit, where for the past fourteen years he has had charge of the company's large and growing business.

A past commander of the Grand Army, having been commander of the post at Berlin, he will be mourned by all his comrades in arms. But to the majority the sense of loss will not be so much of the old soldier, noble as was his share in saving the nation, as of the active citizen and true hearted friend. Mr. Croft was one of those men who are the true wealth of a people. He looked at life in the large, and had high standards of honorable conduct. He was a great reader of the best books; he had no time for any others. He would sit up late to get the best out of a great book. Probably no one else in Beloit could compare with him in knowledge of Egypt, its monuments and the great engineering works recently undertaken there; and this was but an illustration of the breadth of his information.

The Beloit Free Press says of him: He was an original character, doing independent, honest thinking, and a quaint and kindly humor gave charm to his conversation. He thought deeply on current questions, and was anxious to see American institutions kept on the foundation of thorough obedience to law, and to have employers and employed understand and help each other. He loved his friends; he loved little children; he loved the varied aspects of nature. For some months past he has shown signs of flagging strength, but with characteristic thoroughness he could not bear to throw off any of his responsibilities. It has always been his custom, if his associates were ill or absent, to take additional work upon himself. In the same spirit he now spared his energies to the last, to now spurred his energies to their wonted activity, and took no rest. A soldier to the last, he fell at his post. Two daughters, Ella and Lillie, reside in Janesville. The funeral will be held at Beloit at two o'clock Sunday afternoon.

PROF. WRIGHT'S LAST LECTURE

Before the Art League Dealt with the Influence of Pagan Myth After the Dark Ages.

In his final lecture delivered before the Janesville Art League in this city yesterday afternoon Prof. Lyman Wright gave a most interesting exposition of "The Influence of Greek Mythology Upon the Art of the Renaissance." Through the subject was a complex one, involving the touch of different ages of one another, this very element, he said, made the study all the more interesting. Without dwelling on the history of the Dark Ages he would simply call the attention to the fact that with the fall of the Roman Empire individuality became merged in the church. With the Renaissance came the awakening of this ego, this personality, so long submerged, and freedom became the keynote. Curiosity and a desire for new things took possession of men. Especially was this true in art.

The Prelude of Pisa

As though for a prelude to this great awakening from feudal slumber which was to make its influence felt over all Europe, there was damped one day on the quays of the harbor town of Pisa an old Roman sarcophagus which was to be used for the burial of the mother of the Countess Matilda. It chanced that this remnant of classical antiquity, carved with scenes from the Caledonian horn-hunt and Phaedra trying to entice the young Apollonius to love, fell under the eye of Nicolo Pisano who was erecting the Romanesque buildings around the leaning tower. Nicolo had been commissioned to make a good pulpit. But the pulpit of those days possessed nothing of elegant sculpture. The carvings on the sarcophagus differed from anything with which he was familiar. It gave him a new idea of line and form and the pulpit that he built in the Pisan baptistery became the connecting link between the old world and the promise of the new thought. And so it comes about that Phaedra reappeared as the Holy Virgin and the little Cupid as the Christ-Child. Pisano uses Christian subjects but departs from his age to produce forms that were anatomically true and virile. So mythology is lending its style and even its subject to the new Christian art, and the stiffness and unreality of the earlier sculpture begins to disappear.

Christianity and Mythology

Later Signorelli of Orvieto executes his frescoes of the Last Judgment and the Resurrection—prototypes of Michelangelo's work in the Vatican and underneath these scenes he depicts the classic poets. Among them we find Virgil who had portrayed Hades from the mythological standpoint in the sixth book of the Aeneid—the basis of Dante's later work—looking up in strong horror. Virgil in his 14th Eclogue had said, "Now there is to come a new sun, and this was later adopted by the Christians as Paganism's prophecy of the new religion. Raphael in his decoration of the church of Maria della Pucci weaves in the Phrygian, Cumæa, and the Persian sybils and the old sybil of the Tiber. The tablets that they carry contain the doctrines of the church among them this prophecy of Virgil. In this age of awakening books long forgotten began to come back. Men were not lacking who tried to put into one religion the old gods of the Greeks and Christianity.

The famous bronze statue of St. Peter in the great cathedral at Rome today, whose bronzed toe has been kissed away by worshippers, was originally a statue of Jupiter.

Classical Romance

With the return of the books came the stories of classical romance and we find Benozzo Gozzoli, whose art is distinguished by a love for the pomp and gaiety and splendor of court life, presenting the old Homeric story of Paris and Helen. This particular painting is an attempt to emulate the poet in presenting in consecutive stanzas many scenes, by showing in the same picture the two figures in the several stages of their progress. Behind the revival of these mythological stories as subjects for art there is a new motive. Whereas for ages past mankind has been curious as to eternity and immortality, now suddenly comes the question: What is man and what is his mission here? Thus the old allegories are given a new translation. In art there also appears the reflection of that struggle of worldliness and Christianity which is to trouble us all our lives. Venus is no longer the Greek Venus. She now broods over her high brow. Love is no longer care-free. Botticelli presents to us the pathetic loveliness, the gay solemnity, the glad sobriety of the spring. In his allegorical picture of "Calumny" Remorse is looking back at Venus—Love whom the artist has identified with Truth.

Tendency to Decadence

Venice with her Titian and others made much of mythology in art. It was largely a riot of color thrown about Venus and Bacchus. Guido Reni with his "Aurora" and allegorical paintings was merely a technician. The grandnesses of mythology began to be used for petty purposes just as we employ them in our present day speech. Sincerity was lacking. When the tendencies spread beyond France to Flanders they were certain to be used grossly, and hence Rubens with his "beefsteak" figures that speak only of the flesh.

VALENTINE IS A CANDIDATE NOW

Announces That He Will Stand for

Renomination for the Assembly.

Mr. C. L. Valentine requests the Gazette to announce his name as a candidate for the assembly and says that he is not the representative of a faction, but if successful will endeavor to serve the interests of his constituency. The contest for the honor is between Captain Norcross and Mr. Valentine. The Gazette has already stated why Mr. Norcross is in the field and it remains for the republican voters to determine which gentleman shall be nominated. While Mr. Valentine is honest in his statement that he is not a factional candidate, yet the fact remains that the La Follette leaders endorse him and claim him as their representative. This may prove unfortunate for Mr. Valentine.

ROCK COUNTY FAVORED LUSE

BY MAJORITY OF 734 ON OFFICIAL COUNT.

BALLOTS CANVASSED TODAY

In County Clerk's Office, and Conservative Candidate Was Found to Have a Big Lead.

Upon the official canvass of the judicial ballots of Rock county in the county clerk's office today the majority of Louis K. Luse, the conservative candidate for the supreme bench, over James C. Kerwin, the La Follette candidate, proved a decided surprise to the supporters of the latter. Luse had 3,952 votes and Kerwin 3,218; Luse's majority—734.

For John U. Fulton.

Claims have repeatedly been made that the La Follette men that Luse's majority would be under 500. Besides the ballots above mentioned there were two, cast in the first precinct of the fourth ward, for John U. Fulton, a barber on River street. Mr. Fulton was very much surprised when notified that he had received this signal honor and declared that if he had known he was in the race he might have made a better showing.

HAVE ORGANIZED AGAINST HEARST

Former Wisconsin Leaders Will Do All in Their Power to Nominate Wall.

Madison, Wis., April 9.—The democrats of Wisconsin are becoming daily more confident of securing the state delegation to the national convention for Edward C. Wall of Milwaukee. Two things are developing that measureably increase this confidence; the aggression of the Hearst movement, increasing the apprehension that the young New Yorker may possibly be nominated, is causing the conservative democrats to redouble their efforts lest the self-advertised trust buster be allowed to lead the party to sure defeat at the polls. The increasing advantage of the Parker movement, attended by the refusal of the Bryan democrats to join in any thing that is advocated or advised by former President Cleveland, seems to indicate to the followers of Mr. Wall that the Milwaukee man will have a substantial chance of securing the nomination, as a compromise candidate upon whom the gold democrats and the Bryan wing may agreeably unite. The leaders and managers of the Wall movement embrace both silver and gold democrats and these who nevertheless refused to bolt the will of the majority of his party. Ex-Senator William F. Vilas will deliver an address before the Jefferson club banquet in Chicago, April 13 and it is expected that this speech will be significant as pointing the way for the democrats of Wisconsin and the northwest.

CHAPTER I.

DARREL RIDES TO SANDY BAR.
When Nate Darrel went to Sandy Bar he knew he took his life in his hand. Margatroyd was there and Margatroyd had sworn to shoot him on sight.

The element of chance, however, entered intimately into every act of Darrel's career. It was guide, counselor and friend for him and formed the basis of his rule of conduct.

Never since he could remember had he wavered between the Known and the Unknown. Luck was the single known factor in his equation and he yielded himself blindly into the hands of fate, always expecting good fortune yet always prepared for the worst.

The feud between Margatroyd and himself was bitter and of long standing; and Darrel, while caring nothing for bridges in front, was careful to burn those behind. An enemy in the rear is a foe in ambush and it was well that this Margatroyd affair should be settled once for all.

Thus Darrel reasoned. After studying the aspect of his bright particular star he took team and buckboard, one fine morning, and traveled out of Anaconda by the Blackfoot trail.

Anaconda knew little of the astute, gentlemanly, and well dressed young man. He had been in town over night and had essayed a game in the "Colonel's Own," causing a ripple of excitement by showing a discard of two aces and drawing a pair of knaves that "filled" his hand and won him the table stakes.

"It's foolish to tempt fate in that way," said a veteran blackleg who stood near watching the play.

"We make our own fate, my friend," replied Darrel in the easy, well bred way that was always his; "It is not fate that makes or mars us. Be true, prudent and apprehensive and destiny turns and rends you; lay hold of it with your bare hands and you make it your slave. Fortune crawls at the feet of a daring man but lutes and spurns a coward."

The habits of the "Colonel's Own" listened wonderingly. Such philosophy was over the heads of most of them, but the veteran blackleg was impressed.

"I have heard of but one man," said he "who invariably discards aces when he gets a pair. That man is Nate Darrel of San Francisco."

The veteran might have added that the play was known as "Darrel's discard;" and that the man who had originated it had quit college to follow the cards and prove his startling theories—a philosopher of the devil's picture books, courting ruin over the green cloth that he might work out a hypothesis of doubtful value.

Darrel had no intention of revealing himself. He was tarrying at Anaconda enroute to Sandy Bar and when his eccentric orbit crossed Margatroyd's he wished it to be sudden and unexpected.

It chanced, nevertheless, that Darrel had overplayed his hand. That night the veteran gambler dispatched a mounted man to Sandy Bar with a notice to his friend Margatroyd that Nate Darrel was in Anaconda and possibly would continue on to the mining camp.

When Darrel drew in his team of bronchos at the Half Way House, the hour was high noon. The team was given into the hands of the hostler and Darrel went into the house for his dinner.

This halting place was midway between Anaconda and Sandy Bar. East and west trails also crossed at this point leading to mining regions farther back in the hills.

There was much travel along the trails and it was common report that the Half Way House was the biggest gold mine in those parts. So it happened that the dining room was comfortably filled when the Chinese waiter ushered Darrel to a vacant chair at a side table.

The newcomer was eyed with suspicion. In the eyes of the rough and ready crowd already there he was too well dressed, too "pretty" and defied the laws of convenience by making a distinction in his use of knife and fork.

Before Darrel's entrance another had been looked at askance. This other was a white-faced man in corduroys with "easterner" and "tenderfoot" written large in person and manner.

His reserve was stretched to the point of timidity and before he had used plate, knife and fork he had surreptitiously wiped them on the edge of the table cloth.

That of itself was an insult which might have resulted in gun-play had the proprietor been a witness. The stranger was slender, like Darrel, had the same dark eyes and closely cropped hair and was near the same height.

His face was smooth, however, while Darrel had a neatly trimmed full beard. There was something about the stranger that held Darrel's eye.

A man in Darrel's peculiar line is a perfect reader of character. After a little study over the bacon, beans, coffee and sour dough bread, Darrel concluded that the gentleman in corduroys had been driven west under the spur of conscience.

Possibly his absence had left an un-

FROM LAST TO FIRST

People used to take plain cod liver oil for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles after other remedies had failed.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern idea of cod liver oil—the first instead of the last resort when such ailments appear.

The taste of the oil is not apparent and the oil itself is partly digested—makes it easy for the stomach. Scott's Emulsion is a quick, reliable help at all ages.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

He put his away from her and drew himself up.

"I play an honorable game," said he curtly.

"Ojala!" she mumbled; "you may be honest, but you cannot be honorable and follow the cards. Beware of three knaves and two red sevens, señor."

"Why?"

"When you hold that hand you never leave the table alive!"

"Graeas, señora," he said, a fine scorn lurking in the words; "the future is a riddle and a riddle you have read me. As for the jacks full on red sevens, it is a good hand in any game and I shall be glad to receive it. Adios!"

Thereupon he left the office and ordered the hostler to bring his team.

Letter to J. P. Baker.

Janesville, W. I.

Dear Sir: Messrs. Leaching & Edelin, Grafton, W. Va., have been selling a paint, which they thought well of; and this had occurred.

They had sold an customer 18 gallons of it to paint his house. A few years later, they sold the same man Devoe lead-and-zinc, the same number of gallons to paint the same house. He had 7 gallons left.

The point of the tale is: 11 gallons Devoe paints an 18-gallon house.

Of course, that isn't all.

Why does 11 gallons Devoe go as far as 18 gallons of other paint? Because it is all paint, all true, no sham, not full measure.

But that isn't all. Devoe last longer. No, no; you haven't got to wait ten years to find that out. The thousand people know it. We've got their names. Our agents know them; they think a heap of Devoe. There's no difficulty in showing your townspeople what to expect of Devoe. $10 will paint a $15 house; and the paint'll last twice as long.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.

WHY IT IS SO.

When I say that it is known that its power to strengthen the system and build up the body is why Father John's Medicine cures colds and all throat troubles, it will be understood why it is so valuable as a tonic and for driving the impurities out of the blood. It feeds the tissues and makes strength. All disease is due to a run-down condition of the body, unhealthy tissue, blood poisoned with impurities, and general weakness.

While we recommend Father John's Medicine for a number of ailments—in the cure of which it has always been successful, as those who endorse it will tell you—you must understand and remember that all these ills are of the same kindred or family; that they all come from the same source or cause, as stated above. The principle of this medicine is simple. It furnishes the food that the body requires, and strengthens each organ so that it can do its work—that is how the system is cleared of the impurities and poisonous waste matter, and it supplies healthy warmth and vitality.

Its ingredients are the same kind of food and nourishment that blood and tissue are made of—pure and wholesome.

The Badger Drug Company, corner Milwaukee and River streets sell

Father John's Medicine.

"That will do."

The silver rang as he threw it down on the table and turned away. He had not taken two steps before the old woman had him by the arm.

"You make your living with the cards, señor," she breathed harshly; "have a care that you do nothing wrong."

TEST OF PROF. BELL'S BIG KITE

Exhibition Before Geographical Society on Saturday, April 30.

Washington, April 9.—Prof. Alexander Graham Bell has decided to give a public exhibition of his tetrahedral kite, or flying machine, constructed under his direction in Cape Breton Island more than a year ago. The exhibition is to take place before the National Geographical Society at an open-air meeting to be held on Saturday, April 30.

Oil Prices Are Cut.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 9.—The Standard Oil company has reduced its quotations in all grades of oil except Ragland. The quotations follow: Pennsylvania, $1.65; Illinois, $1.80; Corning, $1.46; Newcastle, $1.52; Cabell, $1.49; North Lima, $1.16; South Lima, $1.11; Indiana, $1.11; Somers, $1.10; Ragland, 66 cents.

Relieves Tea Fatigue.

Moscow, April 9.—The fears of a tea famine have been greatly relieved. The merchants have been informed that the railroad is now able to transport 500,000 pounds of tea, which have been lying at Port Dalny since the outbreak of the war.

Murderer Is Granted Respite.

Kaneoche City, April 9.—James Brown, who was to have been hanged in this city for the murder of his stepdaughter, has been granted a respite till May 6. Brown is a Hawaiian

WHAT THIS MAN SAYS

Only Re-echoes the Sentiment of Thousands in Our Republic.

The Janesville reader is asked to thoroughly investigate the following: gentleman whose statement is published below will only be too pleased to answer any communication made to him if the writer really suffers from the annoying consequences which always attend inactive or weak kidneys.

W. Samp, of 412 Euclid avenue, proprietors of the largest rock quarrying business in Milwaukee, says: "I had trouble with my kidneys for many years. It consisted mostly of a lame and aching back, and there were occasions when I had such severe attacks that I could not get out of the house for two or three weeks at a time. I was then practically helpless for it was painful to move. At other times it assumed a milder form, being a dull aching across my kidneys. I used medicines of different kinds but I never found anything that gave the satisfaction that Donn's Kidney Pills did. This remedy is worthy of a high recommendation and it is a pleasure for me to endorse it as doing all that is claimed for it."

Plenty more proof lies from Janesville people. Call at the People's drug store and ask what their customers report.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, April 9, 1861.—Advance in Wages.—The journeymen Boot and Shoe makers of this city made a demand on employers of 15 to 20 per cent advance in their wages a few days since, which was cheerfully acceded to as we learn. ***

Our Friend It.—Freeman A. Kimball, of the Second Wisconsin Cavalry, has been at home some days on a furlough. We believe few officers are more faithful or constant in the performance of their duties than Freeman, and we know there is no more brave or plucky man in the army.

The United States Supreme Court.—The United States Supreme Court has given notice that no arguments will be heard in my case after Tuesday, the 12th inst., and the court will adjourn on Monday, the 18th inst., instead of May, as heretofore announced.

Our readers will notice the new advertisement of W. H. Brown, who has just returned from New York with a fine assortment of hats and caps and other articles for the use and addition of the outer man. Mr. Brown has not been long in the trade among us, but is steadily and quietly winning his way to the confidence and patronage of the public. Those who deal with him will find him fair and upright in all his transactions. He buys for cash, understands his business, and will give his customers their money's worth every time.

Emigration.—Secretary Seward has addressed an important letter to the Home Special committee on immigration, in which he urges immediate legislation upon this subject. He proposes a general bill, which he thinks will meet the case. He suggests an appropriation of $25,000 to carry the measure into operation.

Special Meeting.—The weather was so bad last evening that no quorum of the Common council got together. There will be a special meeting this evening.

Cleaning the Streets.—The very necessary work of cleaning the streets is going forward with spirit, and Main street at least, will soon be in fine condition.

TOBACCO TALKED
ON THE MARKETSTHE SELLING OF LAST YEAR'S GROWTH CONTINUES SLOWLY.

PLANS FOR COMING SEASON

What is Being Discussed Relative to the Weed's General Sale and Conditions.

After months of waiting and delay, it can now be said that the tobacco crop is practically down from the curing sheds and stripped. It is hard to recall another season since this state began to grow tobacco to any extent when the growers have been handicapped by such unseasonable weather handling the crop. Seldom if ever before did April 1st find the farmers with so much of the crop on hand unassorted, with not time to devote to preparing it for the cases. The time which the grower now puts upon his tobacco is needed for other farm work and one or the other must be neglected. This condition in connection with the low prices prevailing helps bring about a general feeling that tobacco growing is not as pleasant occupation as heretofore, hence it is not surprising that the sugar beet promoters find ready listeners throughout the tobacco sections, and the talk of reducing acreage is heard on every hand.

A large amount of the present tobacco crop is quietly passing out of the hands of the growers at very low figures is evidenced on every side. Even in Vernon county district, where growers are accustomed to receive fancy prices, the crop is being lifted at ridiculously low prices. Many farmers are determined to unload rather than attempt to handle the crop on the farms, because of the lateness of the season and buyers stand ready to take advantage of the sacrifice.

Conway & Hubbell received 50¢ of '02 from Stoughton growers during the week.

Old leaf is receiving only moderate attention and transaction are mainly of small lots to manufacturers.

The deliveries are quite plentiful at most of the packing points where warehouse handling is becoming quite general.

The shipments out of storage reach 18 car loads, 900 cases, from this market to all points for the week.

OBITUARY

Samuel Church
Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Lewis and son, Rollin, have returned from Whitewater, to which place they were called by the death of Mrs. Lewis' father, Samuel Church. Mr. Church was for thirty-five years a prominent resident of Whitewater. Previous to that time he had lived in Milwaukee thirty-three years. He was born in Lee, Mass., and from the quarry on the farm of his grandfather, David Ingersoll, was obtained the marble used in the construction of one of the extensions to the capitol building at Washington. Mr. Church's grandmother, Sarah Parsons Ingersoll, was a grand daughter of Jonathan Edwards. All of Mr. Church's children, his only brother, Edwin Church of New York City, and a number of his grand children were present at his funeral.George Mosher
The funeral of the late George Mosher who was accidentally killed in the yards of the North-Western railroad, April 5th, was held today from his residence, five miles east of the city, J. H. Tippett officiating. He was born October 9th, 1839, in Philadelphia, Jefferson county, in the state of New York. His parents, Stephen and Sarah Mosher, moved to Wisconsin in 1846. The family has resided in Rock county ever since. George Mosher was married in Beloit January 2d, 1866, to Miss Emogene Bucklin, of Evansville, Wisconsin. There were born to them seven children of whom five remain to mourn the loss of a loving father. The wife and mother died in 1879. Misses Emogene and Nora, William, and John Mosher, and Mrs. Etta Hayner are the surviving children. The aged mother is 93 years old and has been confined to her bed for the last three years. He also leaves two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Lorence Bennett of Holland, Michigan, and Mrs. Ellen Ashton of Montana, Lanson Mosher of Hazelton, Iowa, Leonard Mosher of Deewood, Minn., and C. H. Mosher of La Prairie, Wis. Mr. George Mosher was an industrious farmer, a kind neighbor and a good citizen.

The song service was rendered by Mrs. Charles Yates and Mrs. Hawley. The pallbearers were J. Thomas, J. E. Gleason, James Banfield, N. G. Akin, T. H. Edmon and James Scott. The interment was at Oak Hill cemetery.
